Photos depict the devastation of a fire on Friday afternoon that completely destroyed this trailer at 5408-47 Avenue. Fire chief Sheldon Fuson said the investigation will be concluded sometime this week. Renters of the trailer were at work at the time of the fire.

Evergreen Tourist Association

Not quitting without fight

The Evergreen Tourist Association isn't quitting without a fight.

Association president Ken Albrecht told The Western Review last week he plans to approach Drayton Valley town council about reconsidering their withdrawal application.

Earlier in the year town council decided to withdraw from the Evergreen Tourist Association and approach the Battle River group about possible membership.

Rod Schultz, chairman of the chamber of commerce tourist committee says Drayton Valley has been accepted in principal by Battle River. All that's needed is official confirmation from the province.

Schultz said he is aware of the 'last-ditch' attempt by Albrecht and his group, and while he doesn't give them much hope, he admires their drive.

"Their record to date is pretty hard to support," Schultz added.

Albrecht also made it quite clear his association won't change their $1 per capita membership fee just to get Drayton Valley back. Membership with Battle River is 16-cents per capita.

Evergreen is holding a two-day retreat next month, and Albrecht says invitations have been sent to the town and chamber. The retreat will discuss goals and objectives and prepare a mission statement.

The chamber's tourist information booth includes Evergreen brochures, which Schultz said were sent to them. "Our objectives are the same, so we will promote Evergreen," he said.

Albrecht isn't expected to meet with town council until after their June 6-7 retreat.

Renovations

Theatre closing

The Cardium Theatre will close at the end of the month.

However, owner Irvin Janzen says the Drayton Valley theatre will re-open Saturday, June 13.

While the main street theatre is closed, new carpet will be laid in the lobby, the concession and front entrance will be changed.

Tom Hutchinson, who has run the theatre for the past 3½ years, will be leaving at the end of the month, as his lease has run out.

Cardium manager Bob Dykes, who operated the theatre for Hutchinson, will stay on and work for the Janzens, who now make their home in Saskatoon.

Beverly Hills Cop II will be featured at the Cardium from June 13 to 19 followed by Ernest Goes To Camp June 20-23 and Project X June 24-26.

Highland results A9

The Edmonton weather office is calling for cloudy skies and scattered showers for the area throughout most of this week.

Tuesday's forecast is for mainly sunny weather with a high of 20 C and a low of 5 C.

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday will be mainly cloudy and scattered showers. There is a 40 per cent probability of precipitation.

Highway traffic is important to the future of Wildwood business.

Wildwood concerned

Nine businesses could go under

By Frank Ryan

Business people in Wildwood are very concerned about the twinning of Highway 16 through their community.

About 60 business and village residents attended an open house meeting last Thursday night at the school, to hear Mayor Reg Ahlskog and Alberta Transportation people discuss the alternatives.

Talks on which route the highway will take, have been going on between the village and Alberta Transportation for the past 1½ years.

Ahlskog for one, would like to see the issue settled. But he wasn't sounding too positive at last week's meeting.

More than 90 per cent of Wildwood's 875 population endorsed plan one, but Highways Minister Al Adair said no to that, because of a left-hand turn that was included. According to Ken Howery, executive director of planning for Alberta Transportation, the minister was concerned about the safety factor involved in making left-hand turns off, and on to the busy highway.

Six plans prepared by Alberta Transportation follow the route of the existing highway. That's not the issue.

The issue, as it was continually pushed for at last week's meeting, was for a left-hand turn off the highway. When the meeting realized that wasn't possible, they asked for a right run on to main street for west-bound traffic. And they were told by Howery that wasn't acceptable either.

The latest plan (number seven) calls for the four-lane highway to be built about a quarter-mile south of the existing highway...which would bypass the village altogether.

"Nine business people will go under if we're bypassed," stated Councillor George Reynolds.

"We've insisted from the start we need a left-hand turn for revenue purposes," the mayor added.

Wildwood resident Steve Michalechuk circulated a letter which stated in part, that 75 to 80 per cent of their gas station business comes from highway traffic. Fifty per cent of local store business depends upon the highway and tourists in the summer and 25 per cent in the winter. And, 50 to 75 per cent of their restaurant business is highway-oriented.

Michalechuk's letter also stated, that Wildwood cannot afford the losses it would incur if plan seven was used. "We as a village, are too small and have no great attractions to draw regular traffic and tourists half a mile off the highway," Michalechuk said.

Mayor Ahlskog agreed with most of the percentages mentioned in Michalechuk's letter. "We have to protect business," the mayor added.

It's Alberta Transportation's intention to extend the Highway 16 twinning to within a mile of Wildwood this summer while talks continue on a route through or around the village.

Ken Albrecht, a member of the I.D. 14 advisory council told the meeting plan seven opens up more development. "We were under the impression that people in Wildwood liked plan seven," Albrecht stated.

Albrecht, who is also president of the Evergreen Tourist Association, supported the minister's concerns over left-hand turns. "I'm not crazy about left-hand turns," he added.

Although nothing definite was settled at the meeting, talks will continue on the possibility of some sort of turn or off-ramp into the business area.

Spring Brake

Warning as opposed to ticket

For local drivers, Spring Brake is this week.

Starting today, and running until Saturday, the RCMP will be using the Spring Brake display unit — a large electronic sign hooked up to the radar of a police cruiser and placed on its hood.

The sign indicates the speed of a car as it is about to pass by.

Cpl. Tom Turner said the unit will be stationed at different areas throughout town during peak driving periods.

The purpose is to show drivers exactly what speed they are going. Many may be unaware they are exceeding the speed limit.

"It's to give a warning as opposed to handing out a ticket," said Turner.

Turner added the Spring Brake unit will definitely be placed in the school zones, and probably at other points known to attract speeders.

The display unit is owned by the RCMP and travels every week to different detachments in the province.

Salfi opposed

Decision by passes MPC

Councillor Alex Salfi is upset over a recent development involving Pelican Mills.

The May 5 municipal planning commission (MPC) minutes indicated that due to time restraints a proposed subdivision application referral was not brought before MPC, but rather, was dealt with by the mayor and Councillor Charlie Miner.

The minutes go on to say that Councillor Miner reviewed the application to subdivide 5.32 hectares which was purchased by Pelican Mills to be used for additional storage area. Miner stated that, on behalf of the town, the mayor and himself had informed the County of Parkland the town had no objections to the subdivision.

Salfi stated in the May 5 minutes that he wished to go on record as being strongly opposed to the practice of any council members taking it upon themselves to act on behalf of the entire council. Salfi stated there are established procedures for dealing with requests of this nature and trusts that in the future these procedures will be followed.

Salfi told The Western Review he was sure that council wouldn't have stood in the way of the subdivision, but it was the principal of the matter that upset him.

The Pentecostal assembly want to renovate their existing church and add residential quarters. However, the municipal planning commission has tabled the request, pending more information about the church purchasing land adjacent to their existing site.

The municipal planning commission wants to meet with the County of Parkland to discuss the creation of a fourth police unit behind the Eldorado.

$6,000 grant

New project for PIAD

A Drayton Valley-based group has received a $6,000 Environment Canada grant.

The Pembina Institute for Appropriate Development (PIAD) is working on an 80- to 100-page environment directory of Alberta.

Total cost of the directory, which will include listings of major environmental organizations, industry and government associations that deal with environmental organizations will be between $14,000 and $15,000.

Spokesman Rob MacIntosh says financial help is also coming from the ERCE and the Canadian Petroleum Association. Alberta Environment is supplying some phoning and coping help for the project.

MacIntosh says his group has been working on the directory for the past four months. And, with two-thirds of the money in place, PIAD went ahead, anticipating the latest grant from Environment Canada was forthcoming.

This is the second directory the group has taken on. They did a Canada-wide publication featuring peace organizations earlier in the year.

In all, Environment Canada is funding 16 projects for a total price tag of $22,478. The special funding was made available to groups across Canada to carry out projects for Environment Week (May 31 to June 7).

"We were overwhelmed by the response from Alberta groups who share an interest in our environment," said Garth Norris, regional director of communications for Environment Canada.

Grads getting free ride

The Kinsmen Club will once again be offering grads a free ride home from the annual grad bash.

For the third year in a row, Kinsmen volunteers will be providing bus rides to the site of the party, and car rides for the return trip.

Jason Colby, chairman of the Grad '87 party committee, said the philosophy behind the service is to ensure this year's Grade 12 Frank Maddock high school students have a safe grad.

He added that roughly eight to 10 Kinsmen will be volunteering to act as escorts for the party, which is slated to take place June 6.

The volunteers will not be supervising the party, but will instead be stationed about half a mile from the site.

Colby said they will be making sure that no student attempts to drive home from the festivities.

Another service club is currently assessing the possibility of aiding the Kinsmen financially in terms of costs for the bus rentals.

Dynamite

Explosions cause alarm

Three dynamite blasts near Warburg last Monday resulted in a number of calls to the RCMP.

The RCMP at Thoraby who are investigating the incident, have tracked the source down to an old coal mine near Warburg, where someone was getting rid of old explosives.

The explosion was heard at homes near the Alsike Store and one resident said windows in their house rattled.

Revamping bylaws

Council/rec board on collision course?

Town council and the recreation board appear headed down a collision course.

Council has decided to revamp the recreation bylaws. Why, no one's sure.

The recreation board, who will feel the impact of that decision, have decided they won't lay down and accept the changes.

So, the battle's on.

A number of major changes are planned by council, such as reducing the number of community members on the board, to having a councillor chair the meetings instead of a community volunteer, and only business forwarded by administration will be dealt with as opposed to community concerns.

Council gave first reading to the bylaw. Then, it was sent to the recreation board for their comment. They didn't like what they saw, and went 'behind closed doors' to discuss the issue.

The issues raised by the recreation board surfaced at the May 14th council meeting. Instead of discussing them in public, council called a special meeting, where they could discuss the issue in private.

Now we wait....

Meanwhile, the recreation board is being picked on unfairly.

During that May 14th council meeting, two councillors took exception with a motion that came from a recreation meeting about user fees and a letter that the board dealt with, that had the mayor and councillor's name at the top.

In defence of the recreation board, the motion was passed at the recreation board meeting, as we remember, they didn't actually prepare it word for word. That was done by someone before the meeting. Who you ask? No one's saying. They only endorsed it.

And, for the letter that contained the mayor and councillor's name, it was given to the recreation board by a delegation. The board can't be blamed for that.

It appears that some councillors are nitpicking. Maybe they're trying to get the recreation board so mad, they will just quit. Then, council can go ahead with their bylaw changes without any opposition.

"I sure hope they don't lock horns!"

Behind closed doors

Elected officials have duty to public

Town council seems to be taking more of their 'decision making' behind closed doors.

At their last meeting, the mayor insisted that a discussion with Pelican Spruce Mills boss Al Owen should be private. Owen didn't seem to mind that the newspaper was present and the camera was on, but the mayor got his wish.

It's rather unfortunate, in this case, because people are interested in what is happening, or planned for that matter, at the strand board plant.

When I'm asked to leave a meeting so they can discuss things in private, I get suspicious and start asking questions.

Frankly Speaking

by Frank Ryan

While town council and Owen were busy for 48 minutes, we heard that a 'chip board plant' may be in the works. This couldn't be confirmed, because neither Owen or council made any statement.

At a previous meeting, council asked the press to leave while they discussed a problem at the cemetery.

And, their decision to hold 'private' talks has even rubbed off on the recreation board. Discussions on changes to the recreation bylaw resulted in a 30-minute behind closed door session.

As our elected officials, council has a duty to let us and our readers know what's happening. There's enough stuff going on behind closed doors, like council's Wednesday night meeting, before a regular council meeting, already.

If some of the things discussed 'behind closed doors' gets into the paper...they only have themselves to blame.

Writer disgusted with 'rip-off' artists

Dear Editor,

While my husband was gravely ill in a hospital, we had some very helpful person come and steal approximately 350 gallons of orange gas from a storage tank in our yard. Not for the first time.

Where once, if a family had illness, one automatically had only neighborly concern and help, now one is "open game" for a rip-off.

I have two comments. One, while the legal system and some of the public seem preoccupied with the rights of the Clifford Olsons: the property rip-off artists; the second, third and fourth-time offenders: the juvenile delinquents practicing to become better criminals; etc., etc., etc., where is the concern for the law-abiding citizen?

Is our system geared so that the latter is going to be "squeezed out" of existence and become a disappearing species like the dodo, unalto cope with our criminal infested environment?

Secondly, if there are remnants of morality not beaten out of the public conscience, why is there not more support and respect given to the police force which is there for our protection, whose members have laid, and will continue to lay not only their dedication but their lives in the line of duty?

Watch the TV news and not the concern for the "poor weeping mother" of a slain criminal, but where is the concern and the moral indignation for the loss of an officer's life laid down in the line of protecting what? An honorary burial may be cold comfort for the widow and the children.

I know that in the matter of crime, our loss is insignificant, but the principle is important: I can visualize the perpetrator having a laugh at this, but he knows who he is and there are others who know who he is, and if they laugh instead of saying "Yes, he should be apprehended and it is my responsibility."

I wonder when, where and why a person starts on a trail of crime, but I cannot buy the "cop-out" that society is to blame.

One left of an endangered species,
B.A. Henkel

Theatre manager bids farewell

Dear Editor,

It is with regret that I announce that my organization has lost its lease of the Cadium Theatre building. We are forced to close our operation of the theatre at the end of May.

I would like to personally thank all of our friends and customers in Drayton Valley for 3 1/2 successful years in business. We introduced $2 Tuesday, the family price and merchant sponsored matinees. All met with success. It is with pleasure that we served you, and sadness that we must leave.

We wish the town well. Perhaps we may someday be able to operate your theatre once again.

Sincerely,
Tom Hutchinson

Lodge presents bowl-a-thon awards and plaques

Shangri-La Lodge's successful bowl-a-thon wrapped up last week with the presentation of awards and trophies. Gail Biedler, coordinator of the event which raised more than $40,000 towards the purchase of a seniors' bus, said she was pleased with the results and gratified by the area's response.

The lodge needs $62,000 for the bus and will be considering applying for grants, Biedler said.

She added they would like to purchase the bus by this summer.

The following is a list of the award winners: team high points (The Breakfast Club League: Jan Marcotte, Laura Barker, Wendy Pearson, Claire Ross, and Wendy Jorgensen; highest league individual: Wendy Jorgensen (809 points); highest individual (celebrities): Peggy Thompson (247 points); highest team points: The Bay (Gail Rutch, Rod Adams, Tom Woodward, Linda Reimer, and Terri Jansen); team raising the most money: Block's Store (Christel Hill, Christine Horne, Laura Ryan, Hamdon Hamdon, Marie Lyver); most money raised by and individual: Hamdon Hamdon

($2,509). Hamdon wins a trip for two to Reno.

Most sponsors by an individual: Laura Barker (144 sponsors); Herb Scharr won an appreciation award for collecting seven full sheets of sponsors, and raising $1,310; Sheldon Boorse was also honored for donating his time to film the bowl-a-thon in its entirety.

Christel Hill won the early bird draw (an AM/FM cassette recorder); Gary McGinn took the sponsor's draw (a video cassette recorder), but donated the prize to the Shangri-La Lodge.

Local comedy

Curtain goes up on Wednesday

No, Dr. Ruth is not coming to Drayton Valley.

How The Other Half Loves is the title of the latest comedy to be staged by Drayton Valley Players. Written by a master of theatrical comedy, Alan Ayckbourn, the play satirizes the life styles and pretensions of suburban life.

Three couples are shown at varying degrees of social standing. Frank (Marty Prentice) and Fiona (Marianne Alpaugh) have made it to the top but Fiona is bored and is having an affair with Bob (Shawn Murphy) who, along with his wife Teresa (Diane Lynch) leads an ordinary, boring existence. Teresa is a frustrated intellectual, bored with being a housewife and mother - Bob's just as bored with her.

Into this quartet steps William (Darren Jackson) who works in the same company and has just been promoted. William has great plans but is held back by his weak wife Mary (Fam Ruhland) who he is determined to turn into a lady.

When Fiona and Bob invent marital problems between William and Mary the humorous complications begin.

The stage setting of the play is unique in that the superior drawing room of Frank and Fiona is interspersed with the dreary and worn finishings of Bob and Teresa.

The play is produced by Bob Thompson and directed by Ian Johnston. As well as the six actors, there is a production team of more than 30. "Everyone has worked very hard over the last eight weeks to make this as much a success as previous productions. What is needed now is large, appreciative audiences to see this very funny show," Thompson said.

The play opens tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 7:30 p.m. in the H.W. Pickup junior high school gym with performances to follow Thursday, Friday and Saturday, all at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available at Mike's Food Store and McGees.

Women's Institute news...

By Winnie Hamerlin

Marion Palmer was our delegate to the Anglican Church Women's annual meeting in Edmonton. She gave interesting reports on the various activities of the ACW at their monthly meeting at All Saints Anglican Church.

She reported on the work of St. John's Priory, where the Sisters of St. John the Divine, have a home for many in a religious community. They have been in Edmonton for 50 years and the sisters are financed through donations and legacies.

The restoration of the Anglican Church of St. Michaels and All Angels has been moved and restored in Fort Edmonton Park through government grants and donations.

A letter was read from Bishop James Kauluma of Nombia, Africa thanking the diocese for a donation of $800 for educational material for a school at Ongula Netanga.

At this school, there are nearly 300 pupils; children attend in the morning, adults in the afternoon.

Another letter told of growing vegetables in their greenhouse and of a bishop's school of native ministers held at Whitehorse.

Fifty dollars was sent to the Yellowhead Region ACW for our adopted child, Marian French, who lives in Dr. Graham Homes in Kalimpong, India.

The annual meeting is set for Sept. 19.

This year three of our members are to receive their life memberships in ACW. Ethel Thompson, Peggy Tyler and Winnie Hamerlin. All three have given years of service to their church and community.

April was a busy month. The ladies of the church painted the interior of the parish hall.

A pot-luck supper was held and Debbie Regnier and Chris Kryser from the Pro-Life gave a thought-provoking talk on "respect for life."

The Easter bazaar sale was a great success.

Miriam Roberts reported she had on hand handi-crafts and souvenir butter knives to be sold at the 50th anniversary in October.

The members of the church will hold a garage sale June 13 at the curling rink.

The ACW will be catering to an afternoon luncheon July 4 in the Drop-In Centre for Len and Charlotte's 60th wedding anniversary.

'Play A Round' with Howard

By Howard Vickers, Pro
Drayton Valley Golf Course
The first hole at the Drayton Valley golf course is 361 yards with a dogleg to the left.

There is a large pine tree on the corner of the dogleg which provides the main feature and obstruction on the hole.

The higher handicapper usually plays out to the right into the fairway while the more ambitious golfer hits to the left of the pine to cut the corner.

The hole is fairly easy to play because it is usually downwind, but a following wind takes the spin off the ball and that makes it difficult to hold this small green. Beware of going over the back: the short bounce and roll will probably give the safest results.

Oilfield baseball starts up

The four-team Oilfield Baseball League regular season starts tonight (Tuesday).

The Easyford Colts travel to Breton while Drayton Valley hosts Warburg. On Thursday night, Easyford plays in Drayton Valley against the Oilers and Breton travels to Warburg.

The Colts will play their first seven games on the road as their own diamond isn't ready.

Millbank Stampede

The Millbank Stampede will be held this Saturday and Sunday.

Action starts both days at 1 p.m.

The rodeo grounds are located 15 miles north and five miles east of Drayton Valley or two miles north and four miles west of Tomahawk.

Events will include saddle bronc, bareback, bull riding, calf roping, team roping, ladies barrel race and junior saddle bronc, bareback, bull riding, steer riding and barrels.

Entries will be taken today (Tuesday) from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Phone 339-2172.

Barrhead Elks

Brandon named most valuable player

Marvin Brandon has been selected as the Barrhead Elks most valuable playoff performer.

Captain Darin Sauer won the Elks most valuable player award for the regular season. Ron Kadylo was selected as rookie of the year and winner of the Leonard Oswald Memorial trophy. As the player showing the most heart, Terry Ladin won the most improved player award and the Paul DeChamplain Memorial trophy for the best defenceman was split between Allan Oswald and Jim Navratil.

The most inspirational player award went to Brian Koberstein and the unsung hero was presented to Craig Properzi. Brian Ohlendorf was named the most dedicated player to his team.

And the most gentlemanly player award, dedicated to George Reginbald, who was killed in a car accident during the Elks' playoff series with Drayton Valley, was won by Frank McVety.

Greenskeeper says

Lindale Golf Course recovering from flood damage

GOLF COURSE RULES

- PROPER ATTIRE: PROPER FOOTWEAR REQUIRED, GOLF SHOES OR RUNNING SHOES. NO SHORT SHORTS. NO HALTER TOPS & NO SWIMMING SUITS. SHIRTS REQUIRED.
- PAYING GOLFER ONLY ALLOWED ON COURSE.
- ETIQUETTE OF GOLF REQUESTED.
- PLAYERS MUST SIGN REGISTER BEFORE COMMENCEMENT OF PLAY.
- NO DOGS ALLOWED ON GOLF COURSE.
- NO CHILDREN UNDER 9 YRS. OLD ON COURSE.

Brian Edwards returns to Lindale.

By Steve Fleicher
The Lindale golf course, devastated by last year's flood, is on its way back to a full recovery, says the new greenskeeper.

"We've top-dressed and re-seeded the golf greens, and we're rebuilding and re-sodding all the tees — they've been badly neglected," said Brian Edwards, who has returned to caring for the Lindale links after an interlude as a full-time farmer.

He added that bridges have had to be replaced, and the flood also caused some damage to the fairway, which has since been repaired.

Edwards has been working 15-hour days fine-tuning the course.

"We've spent, and we're going to spend, a lot of time clearing the underbrush. It's a little tough to play golf when the rose bushes are cutting your pants off."

The son of a golf pro, Edwards managed the Riverside

Golf and Country Club in Saskatoon for five years before moving to Alberta 13 years ago.

Work here included stints in the oil patch and in farming (he continues to farm a section of land adjacent to the golf course).

Edwards was also the Lindale course greenskeeper until it went bankrupt several years ago. The new owners, Bucar Realty, Ltd., invited him back.

As for the course itself, Edwards describes it as one that will offer the weekend golfer continuous challenges.

"It's an interesting little nine holes. It's not long, but it's very tricky. The creek is in play in seven of the nine holes. It'll keep you honest."

If you laugh a lot, when you get older your wrinkles will be in the right places.

Andrew V. Mason, M.D.

Baseball diamonds busy

Baseball diamonds in Drayton Valley will be busy this weekend.

Mosquito and beaver teams from Alder Flies, Winfield, Winton, Warburg, Lindale and Drayton Valley who play in the Oilfield Minor Baseball League will be in town for a two-day tourney — Saturday and Sunday.

And, during this year's Lions Evergreen rodeo, 40 baseball teams will invade Drayton Valley for bantam, midget, beaver, mosquito and mite tournaments. Eight teams will participate at each level.

Minor ball president Mickey McDowell says interest in the June 12-14 tournament is good. In fact, several teams are expected to be turned away.

AUTO LIFELIGHTS™ INC.

LIFELIGHTS™ SWITCHES ON YOUR HEADLIGHTS AUTOMATICALLY TO PROTECT YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

Auto Lifelights is a patented system that switches on your headlights when your engine is running. The lights switch off when you turn off your engine. Your lights will not operate when the key is in the accessory or start position, ensuring that the battery will not be drained during engine starting attempts.

■ No more dead batteries! — lights switch on and off with your engine.

■ Save Money — Ontario law has extended times of headlight use. So you will no longer have to remember to switch "on".

DAYTIME USE OF HEADLIGHTS CAN:

■ Reduce your chance of being in an accident by up to 32% — proven by 20 years of research in the United States, and in actual use in Scandinavia. It's been the law in Sweden since 1977 that all cars and motorcycles use either low beam headlights or special running lights, 24 hours a day. The TTC, OPP, Metro Police and Bell Canada drive with their lights on, recognizing the benefits.

■ Save you thousands of dollars in property damage.

■ Protect you and your family from injury, pain and suffering.

INSURANCE SAVINGS TOO!

The Insurance Bureau of Canada endorses the daytime running light programme. Some automobile insurers, among them the Royal, Personal and Home, will give a 5% reduction in your premium with proof of installation of Auto Lifelights in your car. Ask your insurance agent/broker for details.

Be Seen - Be Safe

Auto Lifelights is warranted for one year against defects. Installation of Auto Lifelights will not void new car warranties.

Walk-a-thon this Saturday

The second annual West End Swimming Pool Society walk-a-thon will be held this Saturday.

It's a 25-kilometre (15 miles) distance with check points every five kilometres.

Walkers can start any time between 8 and 9 a.m. at the Breton high school. Anyone who hasn't reached the finish line by 5 p.m. will be transported in.

All walkers and volunteers will be treated to a free meal as soon as they return to the school.

Sponsor sheets are available at the high school.

Prizes will be awarded for the person who turns in the most money, the person who comes in first regardless of what time he/she starts, the youngest walker, the oldest walker and the family that brings in the most money.

Budget deficit increases

The Drayton Valley separate school board has revised its deficit forecast for next year.

The budget deficit has increased from approximately $32,000 to $55,954, trustees were told at last week's regular meeting.

Superintendent Eugene

Miller said short-term speech therapy costs, as well as some previously neglected employee benefits, boosted the deficit.

The school board recently cut its 1987-88 budget to meet the three per cent reduction in provincial grants.

Randy McQuaig impressive in defeat at nationals

Randy McQuaig didn't win a gold medal at the recent national boxing card in Cornwall, Ont. but he was impressive in defeat.

McQuaig, a member of the Derrick Boxing Club along with coach Doug Boliants, were part of the Alberta team that travelled to the nationals.

All eight Alberta fighters got into the medals, returning home with three gold and five bronze.

"It was Alberta's best showing in a long time," Boliants said.

In McQuaig's first fight, he scored an unanimous decision over an opponent from Nova Scotia.

But he was knocked out of the competition when he lost to a Quebec boy. "We knew it was going to be his toughest fight," Boliants admitted.

However, it was close. McQuaig and his Quebec opponent went non-stop, toe-to-toe for three rounds. The fight, one of the best at the nationals, impressed everyone including the judges.

"On a better day Randy could've beat the kid from Quebec," Boliants said.

Boliants, who also accompanied McQuaig to the nationals last year in Whitehorse, was proud of the Alberta team, and especially happy that Drayton Valley fighters got into the medals.

The Quebec fighter who defeated McQuaig, went on to win the gold medal in the 126-pound class. In all, Quebec dominated the nationals, winning seven gold medals.

Still time to take in pool's special week of activity

Congratulations to those who kicked off National Physical Activity Week by wearing their sneakers on Friday.

If you were slow to start — no problem — there's still time to drop down to the pool and get in on the action! Details are posted on the pool bulletin board.

Kids! Make sure you enter our essay contest. Write a short essay on "what fitness means to you." What do you like to do for exercise?

Entry forms are available from your teacher at school or from the pool cashier.

Now's the time to register for your summer learn-to-swim programs. Most classes still have spaces available. If you are interested in the first session in July we recommend you register soon, as these classes are filling fast.

There have been a number of requests that the Iron Man of Oiltown triathlon be held at the end of June rather than September. We'd appreciate your opinions on this. Call us at the pool, 542-5749.

Recreation

Kelly resigns from board

Simon Kelly has resigned as vice-chairman of the recreation board.

Kelly, who has been on the recreation board for the past two years found he just didn't have enough time to devote to the board.

"I have enjoyed serving the Town of Drayton Valley, as a member at large on the recreation board for the past two years, but I find that with my other activities I am not able to devote as much of my energy to my responsibilities involving the recreation board," Kelly said in a letter to municipal secretary Robin Wenbourne.

The resignation was dealt with at the last town council meeting. Kelly's resignation leaves the recreation board short two community members.

Contests will pit students against teachers - Pickup

By Bill Lysek
 H.W. Pickup

It is Fitness Week at the school, with contests pitting students against teachers and other students.

The Grade 9 Farewell was held May 21, and was very well received.

There is now track and field practice happening at noon and after school. Show your school spirit and attend.

The school will be writing a provincial social studies exam June 9. Good luck to all the students.

The school is working hard towards their spring fun day/track meet June 12.

Elementary B
 Today (Tuesday), the Grade 5 classes are out camping at Sylvan Lake.

Two Grade 4 classes will be travelling to Port Edmon-ton park tomorrow (Wednesday).

The school will be starting track and field June 2.

St. Anthony's
 On May 29, St. Anthony's school will be holding the zone track meet, which will involve all of the schools of the west end of the county.

The Grade 7s will be travelling to Drumheller to the Tyrrell Museum of Paleontology June 2.

Elementary school
 The elementary school track meet will be held on Friday. Go out and cheer the little people on!

Bretton Elementary
 The school held their track meet last Friday, and will be travelling to Alder Flats May 29 or June 8 for the County Elementary Track Meet, depending on the weather, of course.

The school is tight in the middle of reading tests, so not too much activity will be going on.

To join in the festivities of Sneaker Day, the three female teachers who rode their bikes in on May 18 did it again. Perhaps there should be sculpture commemorating the great event.

Breton High
 Medalion winners of the junior high school track and field held May 15 were: for the A girls Naomi Westlin, receiving 84 points; A boys

Brice Wall with 69 points; B girls Rhonda Johnson with 62 points; B boys David Standt with 60 points; C girls Gwen Movald with 44 points; and for the C boys, Terrance Fadden with 86 points. Well done, all of you.

The kids from Ontario have just completed a tour of Alberta, going through Jasper, Banff and Drumheller. All seemed to be quite impressed.

Volleyball camp at Pickup

A four-day volleyball camp will be held in August.

The Aug. 17-20 camp will be held at the H.W. Pickup junior high school at a cost of $80.

It's open to students in grades 7 to 12. The first 85 students will be accepted. The deadline to sign up is June 22. See Mr. Manty at the school.

Value Drug Mart

Shoplifting decreases

Value Drug Mart's new security system has effectively ended the store's former shoplifting woes, says owner Laurie Tkachuk.

The Checkpoint electronic system is "doing well," Tkachuk said. "It's well worth the money ($15,000) it should pay for itself in less than a year."

Tkachuk estimated he was losing approximately $20,000 a year to shoplifters.

So far, about six people have been caught — all within the first three days of the new system — and the drug store intends on prosecuting all offenders.

Word seems to have filtered down that the store is no longer a good place to steal from, noted Tkachuk.

The only store in town with electronic security, it took the staff some time to get comfortable with the system as there were occasionally false alarms.

Tkachuk said he had been contemplating introducing the security system for over a year.

Other stores in the chain have installed the system with the same level of success, he added.

Tkachuk maintained the electronic system, if it continues to do its job, will mean stable or even lower prices for his consumers.

Job search starts up

By Tracey Vaiter

Hire A Student Manager

Maverick Kensington, like every other student, wants a summer job.

Before Maverick starts looking, he decides to do a personal inventory on himself. This will help him recognize what jobs he would like to do and also discriminate him from jobs he is unqualified to do.

The first step Maverick does is list his interests. He lists what he likes and dislikes to do, to give him a broad background of what type of employment would suit him. Maverick also lists his favorite and least favorite school subjects to give him a better idea of what his interests are.

Next Maverick lists his abilities which includes skills and talents. Skills may be defined as learned abilities while talent relates to something that comes naturally. For example, Maverick's computer experience is a skill but his playing a guitar by ear is a talent.

Then Maverick decides what type of work environment he prefers to work in. The categories include working inside or outside, working with others or alone. Choosing your environment can greatly increase your chance of job satisfaction.

Now Maverick comes to the question, "Why do I want to work?" Maverick must decide what he really wants out of a job and what his motivation is for working. At any student's age, gaining valuable experience is an important consideration.

Finally Maverick decides to write down work he enjoys doing, keeping in mind his plans for the future.

When Maverick's inventory is complete, he reviews it and tries to decide what type of employment would best suit his interests and abilities.

REMEMBER: Good knowledge of yourself will increase your chances of obtaining work that is compatible with your particular interests.

Library celebrates 30th year

The Drayton Valley Municipal Library invites town residents to join them in celebrating their 30th anniversary June 3-5.

The three-day event kicks-off with an informal reception for general public and special guests.

Everyone is encouraged to visit the library reception at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 3 to visit with former librarians dating back as early as 1957. Library board members, and representatives from town council and town administration will also be on hand to witness the cake-cutting ceremonies.

A helium balloon release is planned for Thursday, weather permitting, and should be of interest to kids of all ages, says librarian Lois Peterson.

Those who wish to participate and try to win a prize must register by signing a tag-a-long card at the library before June 4, says Peterson.

The tags will be attached and balloons then released simultaneously at 4:30 p.m. from the library. Prizes will be awarded to the person returning the balloon card from the greatest distance, and to the individual who filled the card out at the library.

The contest closes June 30, and all cards returned will be displayed on the library bulletin board.

During regular library hours (9:30 to 1:30 p.m.) on Friday everyone is welcome to enjoy an open house and refreshments, bringing the celebration to a close.

Calvary church turns the sod

For the third time in their 26-year history the Calvary Baptist Church in Drayton Valley has turned the sod for expanded facilities.

Mrs. Samuelson, wife of the church's first pastor, turned the sod during a brief ceremony May 17. "This is a very special day for me," Mrs. Samuelson told the crowd.

She recalled when the first church went up followed by an addition. "God has blessed the little seed," she added.

"This is a special day in the life of our church," pastor Robert Cochrane said.

Twenty-six years ago the church held services in the Eldorado school.

Attendance has grown from 50 back in '61 to today's 230 which participates in two services. Their attendance has doubled since 1970.

Work is scheduled to start shortly on the church's third expansion, on the lot east of the present church.

Complex funds

In continuing with their support of community projects, Dome Petroleum has contributed $5,900 to the Drayton Valley Community Centre Society. Left to right, is Dome's Archie Hood, district administrator; Jack Beuckert, district manager presenting the $5,000 cheque to society president George Bergquist, with Jack MacEwan looking on.

CRC grant for new hall

The Easyford Community Association and the Town of Drayton Valley are getting the biggest chunk of the County of Parkland CRC grant.

Easyford will get $40,000 toward the construction of a new hall while the town will get an identical amount toward a new arena.

Next on the list is the Cloymont Community League who will receive $40,000 for a new hall.

The Whitby Community

League has been awarded $16,000 for an addition to their hall and the Pembina Nordic ski club will get $6,000 for the construction of a club house.

Gas line rupture could cause problems

Gas lines underneath St. Anthony school's enclosed walkway will mean alterations will have to be made to the structure.

A utilities company will be issuing a report to the school disclosing circumstances behind the problem, the separate school board was told at last week's regular meeting.

Lorne Pinkoski, vice-chairman of the board, said the company has warned that a rupture of one of the gas lines could cause gas fumes to seep through the soil and into the covered walkway, causing a health hazard.

Although the potential for such an incident is remote, the company says the present situation is unsatisfactory and should be rectified, Pinkoski added.

The board was unsure as to whether this would mean the removal of paneling, or simply the adding of some ventilation.

The board decided to wait until receipt of the report, which was to occur sometime later in the week, and then turn it over to the buildings and facilities committee. A special meeting of the full board would be convened if necessary, members agreed.

Acting vice-principal Wayne Tournour suggested that another possibility would be to turn off the gas, as the school would probably not require it for the remainder of the year.

The gas lines are due to be re-routed during the summer months. The enclosed walkway leads from the main building to the portables.

Catholic schools

Conference helps to keep to keep teachers motivated

Ron Williams, principal of St. Anthony school, Wayne Tourneur, vice principal and Eugene Miller, superintendent of West Central Alberta Catholic Schools were among more than 200 Catholic educators who attended the seventh annual Blueprints conference in Red Deer.

This year's theme for the conference was "Servant leadership in a changing community."

"Catholic schools have a particular mandate," says Miller, "and this conference was the seventh occasion that we gathered together to continue to define and refine our raison d'être."

"We're determined to make our schools the best places we can for youngsters to grow as educated and spiritually alive people. We call this conference the Blueprints conference because what we are doing is sketching plans for the mission and ministry of Alberta's Catholic schools."

The process which was used at the conference included the analysis of strengths and weaknesses, the available resources and opportunities to grow.

Williams added, "The great thing is that we're doing it together, getting encouragement and ideas from each other from across the province. We return to our schools with new ideas to share with our teachers, parish pastors, parents and students. The conference helps to keep us motivated."

The major objectives of the conference were twofold. They were to support and challenge the principal as a spokesperson, healer and educational leader with the Catholic school community and to recognize and affirm a sense of pride in our identity as Catholic school administrators.

Dr. Joan MacLeod from Calgary Catholic Schools and Rev. Ron Rohlfheiser from Newman Theological College addressed the conference on four separate occasions. In addition, six concurrent workshops were held throughout the conference.

"If Catholic education has special significance, it has to be in the way our faith affects our relationships with each other and particularly our relationship with our students," suggested Tourneur. He added, "That's why our focus for the coming school year will be on servant leadership in our changing schools."

First time in 30 years

Miner re-elected as Oil Wives president

By Virginia Kuzek
History was in the making at the May meeting of the Drayton Valley Oil Wives.

A hush fell over the crowd and all the campaigning ceased. The final results for this year's election were announced.

Jeanette Miner was re-elected by acclamation as president, the first in 30 years to reign for two consecutive terms. Joyce Hayduk will be retained as past president.

Feeder cows selling $62-$79.75 per 100.

Medium-type cow/calf pairs $900-$1,100.
Heifers $90.25-$115 per 100.
Steers - too few to quote.

Long-time member Eunice Lyle was elected as first vice-president while Val Cameron will be second vice-president. Joan Carr will be secretary with Vicki Mobey as treasurer.

Edith Kennedy and Faythe Wood will again be program co-chairmen. Ethel Mankow reservation chairman, Dianne MacDonald membership chairman, Gwen Baumann constitution chairman and Nina Thomas as historian.

Ginny Kuzek will be publicly chairman for the second year.

With business out of the way members were treated to a spectacular professional performance by the Drayton Valley Entertainers. The group, which consists of 10 Oil Wives and two friends, performed a show done previously for Drayton Valley's 80th birthday celebration and received another standing ovation for their efforts.

The evening was topped with a delicious smorgasbord. Old and new executive members will exchange positions at the next regular meeting on June 8.

MLA cautious

West Yellowhead MLA Ian Reid is taking a cautious approach to the formation of a new municipal district.

Reid says he can live with the proposal taking in parts of the counties of Leduc, Wetaskiwin, Parkland and a small portion from the eastern end of Improvement District 14.

Reid was quoted last week in an Edson paper saying he had no problem with a core area, the amount of ID 14's land base and tax base that is lost there is relatively

The ID estimates it would lose about five per cent of its assessment if this were to go ahead. Reid says any extension of the proposed boundaries beyond the initial core area would encompass large areas of unoccupied Crown land.

Reid says government allowed this approach in the case of Municipal District 99 west of Rocky Mountain House.

Official opening of Bighorn Hwy

The bighorn is here!
This slogan will soon be in evidence throughout northwestern Alberta. It signifies the completion of the 186km of Highway 40 between Grande Cache and Grande Prairie.

Although it is still in the gravel state, this final stretch of road links northwestern Alberta directly with west central Alberta, and on a broader scope, links the Alaska Highway along the Canadian Rockies directly to the United States (Alaska to Mexico).

The official opening celebrations of Highway 40 and its naming as the Bighorn Highway will take place in Grande Cache on June 12, 13 and 14.

During the past few months, several meetings have been held by the Grande Cache Highway 40 Committee. They have included meetings with local service clubs as well as two meetings with representatives from the city of Grande Prairie and the towns of Hinton and Jasper. The cooperation and participation from the out-of-town representatives has helped ensure that the program of events for that weekend will be of the highest calibre.

Invitations are in the process of being addressed and will be mailed shortly, along with an information leaflet. Among those on the invitation list will be Alberta Premier Getty, Transportation Minister Al Adair, former transportation minister Marvin Moore, the Right Honourable Joe Clark PC MP Yellowhead, the governor of Alaska, plus many more dignitaries and persons involved in the highway development. At the request of the local citizenry, many former residents of Grande Cache will also receive invitations.

A splurge of advertising will follow the completion of the invitations. The advertising will include highway signs, banners, posters and newspaper ads that will run in several different papers.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place between Shand and Hoppe avenues on Highway 40 in the Town of Grande Cache. This will be preceded by the longest, most colorful parade ever to march down the streets of Grande Cache. Entries from the cities of Grande Prairie and Edmonton, from the towns of Evansburg, Edson, Hinton and Jasper, as well as locally from Grande Cache, have been flowing in.

Other scheduled events for the weekend include: a wine and cheese Friday night, dances Friday and Saturday nights; free pancake breakfasts Saturday and Sunday mornings; an old-fashioned family picnic; a beerfest Saturday afternoon; a children's fair; and a banquet for dignitaries on Saturday evening.

Throughout the weekend festivities there will be the Alberta provincial hang gliding championships (weather permitting), first annual mountain bike race; mixed slow pitch and horseshoe tournaments, a live chess game from Hinton, and square dancing.

The scenic and challenging nine-hole golf course at Grande Cache will be open to visitors all weekend.

A "Meet Grande Cache" fair, organized to promote the town, has received excellent response from local clubs and organizations. Several out-of-town groups such as the Evergreen Foundation, Evergreen Tourist Association and chambers of commerce have also reserved space for this fair.

There will be ample parking for RVs, including a 50-place overnight campsite in town, with hookups. A shuttle bus service will be available. Motel/hotel accommodation is limited, so early booking of reservations is advisable.

Anyone interested in participating in the parade or other events may contact the Grande Cache town office at 827-3362 during business hours, ask for Estella; or after business hours, call 827-2412, ask for Dolly.

It is requested that parade entrants submit a brief write-up which will be published along with the parade entries and made available to the public.

Anniversary cake on permanent display

A replica of one of the largest anniversary cakes ever made in Alberta is on permanent display at the Edmonton Northlands Agricom.

It's still a metre tall, but it's miniature compared to the three-metre tall cake made 20 years ago to mark the 50th anniversary of the 4-H program in Alberta and Canada's 100th birthday.

The replica made by Jenny Steering of Westlock will be on permanent display in the Cloverleaf Room.

Among events at a recent unveiling ceremony was airing of a half-hour television program produced by Allan Shenfield, first regional 4-H council president and archival film from the now defunct television series 4-H Clubtime. Doug Biener, an Alberta Agriculture trade director, who was the Edmonton-area regional 4-H specialist when the first council was formed in 1962, acted as master of ceremonies.

For more information contact 4-H media coordinator Bob Cue in Edmonton at 422-4444.

RCMP Musical Ride at Hinton Derby Days

Modern technology has long since eliminated the horse as a means of transportation for our police force.

But one segment of the "Mounties" has endeavored to keep these old traditions alive, and at the same time to provide a stirring spectacle.

The beautiful black horses and proud red-coated men of the RCMP Musical Ride are known throughout the world, and on June 16 and 17 they will be appearing for two performances in Hinton, in conjunction with the annual Derby Days festivities and a special heritage festival.

The history of the Musical Ride begins with the history of the RCMP and the history of Canada. From 1870 to 1870 the territory extending west from the Red River to the Rockies was known as Rupert's Land. By the decree of King Charles II all this land had been placed under the control of the Hudson's Bay Company.

But 1870 marked the beginning of a new era. Colonies which had sprouted along the Red River joined to form the province of Manitoba. Most of the prairies, however, remained without boundaries, laws or law-enforcers. To remedy this situation, and especially control miscreants and establish an undeniably "Canadian" presence on the prairies, the North West Mounted Police force was created in 1873.

The Mounties — 300 horsemen strong — began their cavalcade to the west in the summer of 1874. Their first duty was to find and destroy Fort Whoo-up in southern Alberta.

By ending the fur's illicit trading in whiskey, the Mounties won the respect of the Indians and soon put a stop to their intertribal warfare and attacks upon white settlers. The way was opened for the building of the CPR, and soon an enormous wave of new settlers was on the move to the newly-opened West.

The NWMP were responsible for maintaining law and order as the prairies developed, and provided many other services to the settlers as well. They also kept order during the Klondike Gold Rush, and later played a large part in the exploration of the Canadian Arctic. And their presence is maintained to this day in most of the communities which make up Canada. Almost every aspect of our heritage owes something to the activities of these brave men and their mounts.

In 1920 the NWMP became the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, but only nine years later automobiles began replacing horses on the force. Today the RCMP Equestrian Division is composed of 77 regular members, special-duty officers, and civilian assistants. Together they work to train the horses, to provide escorts for special occasions, and to present the Musical Ride.

The breed of horse used for the Musical Ride is the Canadian Hunter. The stallions are purebred; the mares are $\frac{3}{4}$ to $\frac{7}{8}$ pure. Each horse is selected for color (black), height (15.3 to 17 hands), and proper conformation and quality. Horses must weigh between 1000 and 1400 pounds, and are only on duty from six to 24 years of age. The horses are no longer branded, but are tattooed with a number.

Beginning in 1961 with 'A', each foal is given a name beginning with that letter. A large dictionary and a good imagination for bizarre names might be necessary for the year 'X', but as a practicality K,Q,U,V,X,Y and Z have all been discarded to save headaches. Training of the horses begins at three and lasts until age 5½.

Surprisingly, most of the Musical Riders are not riders at all before their equestrian training. Each candidate rider takes an equestrian course which lasts for two months. The 18 who pass will replace those who are just finishing their two-year tour of duty with the Musical Ride — but first they must take an additional six months of training in horsemanship and horse-care.

One-half of the personnel change each year, ensuring an equal number of first and second year numbers. You are welcome to visit with the horses and their riders before and after each performance of the Musical Ride.

The Musical Ride is presented from May to November of each year, and has been seen in many places around the world. The troop consists of 42 people and 36 horses, and with a small mountain of tack and supplies the logistics of transportation becomes no small matter.

Coinciding with Hinton's Derby Days and Heritage Days Festival, it'll certainly be a time to remember. June 16 and 17 the Musical Ride will be held at the Hinton Recreational Centre.

Campgrounds ready

Town staff have been busy getting the campground at West Valley Park in operation. The park was busy during the long weekend, as many of the 28 teams who participated in the slowpitch tournament came with their trailers.

Construction, upgrading

Some provincial parks closed

A number of provincial parks and provincial recreation areas will be closed to the public during the 1987 camping season, to allow for construction and upgrading.

To eliminate public safety hazards and allow construction to be completed as quickly as possible, the closures are in effect for varying lengths of time.

Long Lake Provincial Park — Campgrounds B and D are now closed. Campground B will reopen Jan. 1, 1988. Campground D will reopen June 29, 1987. Alternative accommodation is available at Garner Lake and Cross Lake provincial parks, which are in the local area.

Rochon Sands Provincial Park — Closed until July 31, 1987. The park will reopen with new and upgraded facilities and family activities on the August long weekend.

Aspen Beach Provincial Park — Lakeview campground will be closed for redevelopment for the entire 1987 camping season. It will reopen May 13, 1988. Brewer's Beach campground is available as an alternative site within the park.

William A. Switzer Provincial Park — Loon Cove day use area will be closed from May 15 to Dec. 31, 1987. Jarvis Lake and Gregg Lake offer alternative day use facilities within the park.

Alberta Recreation and Parks urges park users to consider alternative provincial recreation areas and provincial parks this summer, as a way to experience more of the Alberta outdoors.

Commenting on the closures, Minister of Alberta Recreation and Parks Norm

A. Weiss said, "Many of our park facilities have recently been renewed or upgraded through projects like these.

Our ongoing commitment is to provide recreation opportunities that are compatible with the preservation of our natural heritage, and that can be employed by a wide variety of Albertans and visitors to the parks system."

Forum For Young Albertans

Learning experience

By Bill Lysak
Politics.

That is what two students from Frank Mad-dock high school, Rick Day and Bill Lysak, were introduced to first hand at the Forum for Young Albertans held recently in Edmonton.

The program was established to inform young people about the government and its role in society, and what people, young and old, can do to influence the decision making of the people in power.

The students were introduced to all the levels of government: civic, provincial and federal, by having the members come in and tell their story on what really happens in government.

Labor unions, judges, and the media were also brought in to tell their story, their role in politics.

Of course, the week was not just lecture upon lecture. The forum, held at St. Joseph's College on the University of Alberta campus, allowed the 43 students participating to get to know each other better.

Highlights of the week included a trip to West Edmonton Mall, the Legislature and sitting on the floor of the house, meeting Helen Hunley, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta and David Carter, Speaker of the House.

Each student had the opportunity to have dinner with his or her M.L.A. and of course, meet Premier Don Getty.

A major event was a four-party debate in which a member from each party, Liberal, Conservative, New Democrats and the Representative party all had a say in issues of the government, and then were bombarded with questions from the students. It made for a very interesting time.

City hall was also a highlight, and the students were allowed to meet with Mayor Decore, Alderman Lillian Storzick, and hold a model city council meeting.

The introduction to the federal government began the first day, with the group being divided up into two sections, and each section was a party.

The sections then had to choose a name for themselves, and decide on a platform on which they would base their party. Party leaders were then chosen and everyone got down to work in choosing an issue and debating it in a mock parliament.

The Forum for Young Albertans was an entertaining way to learn more about the government and what young people can do to influence the decision makers.

Who knows, our future politicians could be the students who participated in the exercise.

Klondike Days

Challenge has been issued...

The age-old argument continues — which breed of horse is better suited as an all-around versatile animal?

The challenge has been issued and the answer will be found at the third annual Alberta Challenge of the Breeds during Edmonton's Klondike Days Exposition, July 16-25.

From July 16 through 19, registered purebred horses from up to 11 breeds will compete in a head-to-head contest through a series of six events in Hall D of Northlands AgriCom. These events include: western speed or barrel racing, trail horse, obstacle course, open hunter, english pleasure, western pleasure and obstacle driving. The horse completing this grueling series of events with the highest total of points will be declared the grand champion.

The competition is stiff since the animals entered have been chosen by their respective breed associations and are there to defend the honor and prove the versatility of their breed. All entries must have resided in Alberta for at least one year prior to the competition. This prevents anyone from entering a proven performance horse from another area.

Some outstanding awards await the winners. There is $500 up for grabs in each event and the grand champion will take home $1,000. The reserve grand champion will receive $500.

Which breed is the best? Only time and competition will tell. Be there to cheer on your favorite breed during the Alberta Challenge of the Breeds, July 16 through 19 at Edmonton's Klondike Days Exposition.

Who says four-letter words are ugly? Consider: home, love, life, help and hope, save, holy, Lord, good deed, fair play, body and soul, glad and free, open, pure, true, calm and rest, gift, food, care, heal, just, safe, song, soil, land, give and take, fact, duty...

Alberta Agriculture

Farm employment program offered

Farmers needing help and high school students looking for work should team up this summer through an Alberta Agriculture program that offers benefits on both sides.

Applications are now being taken for the Alberta Summer Farm Employment Program which reduces labor costs to the farmer and provides work and experience for students.

About 30,000 students have participated in the program since it was introduced 16 years ago, says Bruce Jantzie, coordinator of the program with the department in Edmonton.

Under the program any Alberta farmer is eligible to hire a student, provided they are not related, and receive assistance with the wages paid. The Alberta government will pay half of the employee's monthly wage, to a maximum of $300, for each month of the program. The program runs from July 2 to Aug. 31.

Prospective students must be at least 15 years of age and priority will be given to high school students.

The deadline for submitting applications for employment is May 29.

"The provincial limit of 890 students is expected to be reached before this date," says Jantzie. "So I urge anyone interested to apply as soon as possible."

Applications are available through Alberta Agriculture district offices or the Canada Farm Labor Pool. For further information about the program contact Bruce Jantzie at 7000-113 St., Edmonton, T6H 5T6 or call 427-2188.

Confusion

About the financial health of Alberta's farmers ...

Seldom has there been so much confusion about the actual financial health of Alberta's farmers.

Alberta Agriculture recently estimated there was a farm income record in 1986 yet farmers continue to go bankrupt, farmland prices are still falling and farm supply sales remain on a downward trend.

It seems the farm income picture depends a lot on what sector of the industry you're looking at. Cattle and hog producers have enjoyed profitable times because of buoyant prices and low feed costs. The low feed costs, however, have helped to create sizable losses for grain producers. When the two sectors are taken together, farm income looks reasonably stable but that masks the severe economic difficulty on some (primarily grain) farms.

The second confusing factor is the amount of farm income derived from government assistance programs. It's estimated 17 per cent of total farm cash receipts came from the Western Grain Stabilization Plan and crop insurance in 1986. The grain market is in a shambles but, at least for now, the federal and provincial governments are covering much of the loss with assistance programs.

So, just how hard up are Alberta farmers?

To answer that let's look at projected incomes in the upcoming 1987-88 crop year which begins Aug. 1. Canadian Wheat Board prices will be 15 per cent lower on wheat and 25 per cent lower on barley in the new crop year. The barley price won't even cover the out-of-pocket expense of producing the crop.

These lower prices will have a profound downward effect on grain farmers' incomes in the year ahead. These lower prices will mean a direct loss of about $600 million to Prairie farmers (providing there is no final payment) on the sale of export grain alone. Farmers selling to the non-board market will lose additional income.

In addition to falling grain prices, Alberta Agriculture estimates that farm input costs, which fell to a six-year-low in 1986, will rise about 4.4 per cent in 1987. Together, falling prices and rising costs, will reduce realized net income to the lowest level since the current downturn in the grain industry began in 1982.

So once again, Alberta producers are faced with the prospect of major income reductions or increased government support. Will the government once again come through. The precedent is there but, so far, the commitment is not. No promises have been made for help next fall.

If the federal government does decide to provide assistance, how much is needed? So far in this crop year, over $1.8 billion has been pledged to Prairie grain farmers through the Special Canadian Grains Program and the Western Grain Stabilization Program. If this can safely be assumed to be a base figure for the 1987-88 crop year, and it's estimated grain price reductions will cause an additional $600 million in income losses, then a total package of about $2.4 to $2.6 billion will be required to keep Prairie farmers in the same financial shape they were in this year.

It's a sorry state of affairs when more and more farm income is required from the federal government but, hopefully within the next two years, the international grain trade can right itself and Alberta farmers will again be able to depend, to a much greater degree, on the marketplace for their income.

Agreements should be put in writing

Whether they are good friends or strangers, two people striking an agreement to lease farm land should put the arrangement in writing, says a legal specialist with Alberta Agriculture.

Cal Bradley, an agricultural solicitor with the department in Lethbridge, says the best verbal intentions in the world can lead to all kinds of grief and expense if something goes wrong.

Bradley says verbal agreements can work and can be legally binding, but the best bet is to put it in writing.

The long-time department lawyer made his comments at the 10th annual Managing Agricultural Technology for Profit conference in Banff. He was among nearly two dozen experts who spoke to about 150 farm couples during the four-day event organized by Alberta Agriculture.

Bradley said a recent survey showed about 70 per cent of farmers leased a parcel of land in conjunction with their farming operations.

Of the 50.6 million acres farmed or grazed in Alberta, about 29.5 million acres are operated by the owners, while 10.8 million acres are leased to tenants, and 10.3 million acres are government lands leased to tenants.

With about 40 per cent of Alberta farmland under some form of lease or rent, the lawyer said a good lease is important.

Bradley said although many people assume all leases are the same, they should actually be very specific documents reflecting the needs and circumstances of each lease situation.

"The ever-increasing complexity of farming today is reflected in the many different types of farm business transactions in existence," he said. "Each new crop introduced in Alberta brings with it a new vocabulary of terms which often have different meanings for those dealing with the crop. Many of the key words in those contracts are so new the courts have not had the opportunity to interpret these words."

"Time spent by the landlord and tenant, prior to entering into lease, clarifying each position will circumvent many possible misunderstandings. Preventative law — get it done right at first — is much cheaper than curative law."

Bradley said if leases are believed to be so straight forward, why do people call his office with a wide range of questions.

Some of the more common questions include:

"My landlord sold his land, can the new purchaser put me off the land? I still have two more years under the lease with the former landlord."

"I'm renting the land on a crop share basis, does the landlord have to help pay for the cost of the weed spray?"

"An oil company is drilling a well on my rented land, do I have to share the compensation with my tenant or can I take that many acres out of the lease?"

"Is there a time period after the expiration of the lease when I must take my share of the crop out of the landlord's granaries?"

"I want to terminate this lease, how much notice is necessary?"

The lawyer said these questions and any other issues that affect the landlord or tenant can all be addressed in the lease agreement.

He said by putting it in writing before the deal is signed both parties know what is involved, know their rights and limitations and both have a document to fall back on if there is a dispute or uncertainty.

Bradley said there are sample leases available which provide farmers with a starting point in developing a lease, but he suggested they have a lawyer check the agreement.

Rich people miss one of the greatest thrills in life — paying the last instalment.

Agriculture faces changes in the next 10 years

Agriculture will undergo more changes in the next 10 years than it has in all the past century and producers had better be ready, says an Ontario corporate executive.

John Oliver, vice president of EIL Lilly Canada Inc. says by the mid-1990s agriculture, as we know it today, will be revolutionized.

Oliver, who is responsible for Elanco Products of Scarborough, a manufacturer of chemicals and animal health products, told a recent agricultural conference in Banff there are several major influences just breaking on the agricultural horizon. Within a decade these influences will be fully upon the industry upstaging many of the traditional patterns.

Oliver said issues such as an aging population, biotechnology, free trade and national and international policies will change how and what food is grown.

In the process he said Canada could lose about one-quarter of its farming population and land prices will continue to fall.

He said although there are some difficult times ahead he challenged producers to meet the changes head on. He said they should fight to change unrealistic government policies and push for improved regional representation in Ottawa. He said some changes can be turned into opportunities.

Oliver was one of nearly two dozen speakers to address the 10th annual Managing Agricultural Technology for Profit Conference organized by Alberta Agriculture.

"Agriculture is in for some extremely tough times and unlike similar situations in the past where we have had a downturn in commodity prices in one sector offset by an upturn in the other, today the winds that are blowing on the horizon carry a message of permanent downsizing," he said.

We will see "...downsizing of the food production machine as we have traditionally known it. How we handle that retrenchment and how we deal with the fallout, will be a test of political will and a test of maturity. It has major social implications far beyond what we have come to expect and accept as the traditional way of life on the farm."

Oliver blamed national and international politics for much of the agricultural woes. He said farming today is 95 per cent politics and five per cent economics and science.

He said there has been a lack of direction as well as meddling in the normal supply and demand cycle.

There is a "...lack of political will in Canada today and an unwillingness to look at the long-term issues squarely and realistically," he said. "In other words, our strategy continues to be ... play for the short-term at the expense of our long-term future."

The company vice-president said there are several major issues which will have the most effect on agriculture in the next decade.

The aging population, which brings about a change in eating habits will be one of the most profound he said. As the "baby boomers" move into their 50s and 60s they will consume less food and their preference will change from red meat to white meat.

Scientist says

Horse's hoof tough material

By Mark Westgar

A team of scientists from the University of British Columbia has shown that the horse's hoof is the toughest biological material in nature.

The researchers, zoologist Dr. John Goelline and grad student John Bertram, then went on to show just how the hoof's cunning structure makes it so tough.

The hoof of a horse is made of the same material as the claws of a bird, the horns of a cow, and the fingernails and hair on a human being, Goelline says. This material is called keratin.

But a horse's hoof is much more resistant to fracturing than a fingernail or a claw, or any other strong biological material. A horse's hoof is two or three times tougher than wood, and 10 times tougher than steel.

"The hoof must be so tough, of course, because a horse running at a gallop puts a tremendous force on its feet," says Goelline. "Every time a foot hits the ground it's like a hammer strike."

The key to the hoof's toughness lies in the way it is structured and the fact that it is made out of two kinds of keratin.

"The hoof is like a paintbrush with all the hairs stuck together with glue," says Goelline. "The hairs represent thousands of tiny tubules of keratin running straight up and down the hoof. The glue holding the keratin tubules together is another form of keratin, called intertubular material, which runs in a crosswise direction."

As anyone who has worked with a paintbrush knows, even when the hairs are stuck together with paint, they can still be pulled apart quite easily. However, in a horse's hoof, it is extremely difficult to split the tiny tubules of keratin apart.

If a horse lands its foot on a sharp rock, the tiny crack made at the point of impact will not run up between the keratin tubules and split them apart, says Dr. Goelline. Instead, the crack is diverted away from this dangerous direction, and follows the crosswise direction of the intertubular material.

"The intertubular material acts like a safety valve," says Goelline. "This is what gives the hoof its toughness."

Dr. Goelline calls keratin "the ghost of a living cell." Certain cells in a horse, and in many other animals, make keratin inside themselves, and leave it behind as a remnant when they die.

Even though the horse's hoof is the most resistant material to fracturing so far discovered in nature, it is still only one-quarter as tough as well-made fibreglass. Horses still require metal horseshoes, too, to protect their hooves when they are forced to perform such super-expensive tasks as racing.

Dr. Goelline has no immediate plans to pursue this line of research further, though he says he would like to study deer, elk, caribou and other animals that also run on their toenails.

Bertram, who is now studying at the department of anatomy at the University of Chicago, sparked the research when he wished to scientifically examine an item of horse-traders' folklore: that it's better for a horse to have black hooves than white ones.

To answer that question we first had to find out what made the horse's hooves so tough. We still haven't gotten around to finding the difference between black and white hooves," Goelline says.

Their research was funded by the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council.

Fishing gear is missing

Between the middle of February and April 1, somebody stole a large amount of fishing equipment from the porch of a trailer located in Valley Drive Acres, just southeast of Drayton Valley.

On Wednesday morning, April 29, between the hours of midnight and 1:00 a.m., two vehicles were vandalized

Alberta Life Flight

Helicopter ambulance latest technology

Since July 1986 Alberta Life Flight has been providing air ambulance services in Northern Alberta.

Alberta Life Flight operates a modern, twin engine helicopter ambulance crewed by two pilots and two fully-trained paramedics. The aircraft is stationed in Edmonton where it is crewed and maintained by Associated Helicopters Co. Ltd., Alberta's first and largest helicopter company.

The helicopter ambulance service complements the normal ambulance system by providing point-to-point transport. For the critically injured person immobilized in an inaccessible field or other remote area, this type of service can mean the difference between life or death. Treatment can be initiated by medically qualified personnel at the accident site and continued until the helicopter touches down outside the designated hospital.

Transporting serious but stable patients from hospital to hospital is another key role for Alberta Life Flight. The helicopter can reduce out-of-hospital time from hours to minutes and carries the advanced life support equipment necessary to sustain the patient during transfer. Many premature infants have a fighting chance following a neo-natal team transfer from a local hospital to the specialized services available in Edmonton.

Alberta Life Flight is funded on an as-required basis by Alberta's Provincial Government Emergency Air Ambulance Service. Only four other Canadian provinces enjoy this level of emergency ambulance service. Providing the prerequisite emergency or critical care conditions are met, a local doctor can request Alberta Life Flight through discussion with a receiving physician in Edmonton or by calling the Edmonton Ambulance Authority dispatch office directly.

The helicopter is crewed to respond immediately during peak demand periods and has a 30-minute response target during non-peak hours. The three-million-dollar aircraft is the latest in helicopter technology and provides twin engine, instrument rated confidence. The pilot and co-pilot are on a strict duty schedule designed to promote the flight safety and eliminate pilot fatigue.

Alberta Life Flight invites your comments on this life-saving service. If you would like more information please call 1-455-4157. Community groups interested in discussing how they might prepare their local area for helicopter ambulance service are also welcome to call.

Line painters

An Edmonton firm was in town during the long weekend, painting the traffic lines and curbs. However, last week's snow storm delayed the project for a couple of days.

Walk-a-thon is a success

A total of $3,183 was received in pledges for the recent walk-a-thon at Lindale school.

Students from kindergarten to Grade 9 participated in the annual fund raiser, which was geared to helping pay for the junior high up-coming three-day field trip.

Students had the option of either walking a short route, 8.5 km, or a long route of 16.5 km.

An even shorter route of four km was made available to the younger students.

Those accepting the challenge of the long route began their walk at six a.m.

Parents travelled the different routes to aid those needing help and to pick up those too tired to continue.

After the walk-a-thon, a pot-luck lunch was served by the community.

You can never go wrong by giving a youngster lots of love and kisses mixed with discipline. Child training is merely knowing which end of your child to pat...and when.

Lindale

Track meet will be held May 26

By Mac Tryon
542-5792

The Lindale School Association has been very busy lately.

For some time now all members have been selling beef tickets. The draw was made at the Mother's Day pancake breakfast. Joan Kelly of Drayton Valley won a side of beef; Bert Vinet of Vegreville won a hind of beef and Charlie Martin of Berwyn won a front of beef.

Many thanks to everyone who helped make this such a success. The Mother's Day breakfast was very well attended. The raffle draw, which was a supper at Caesar's was won by Joyce Sunderland. A special thanks to all the cooks for a very good meal.

The Home and School Association is planning to build a tire playground June 6. This is a very big project and we need lots of help. Anyone who can help that day please phone the Lindale school or Mac Tryon at 542-5792.

The Lindale Student's Union held a walk-a-thon May 12. Everyone did very well except for a few blisters and lots of sore muscles. Pledges are to be turned in by May 25.

The junior high three-day trip will be May 27, 28 and 29. They will be going to Banff and area this year.

The track meet will be held May 26. Anyone who would like to help in any way please phone the school.

The Hall Board is presently selling tickets on a one-ounce gold bar valued at $500. The draw will be made at Farmer's Day in June. Tickets can be purchased from any board member.

Congratulations to Donald and Isobel Martin who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary April 25. They had an open house and dance at the Lindale Hall.

Congratulations to Kevin and Patty Reeve on the birth of a baby boy May 12.

Grasshoppers are on the decline

The number of grasshoppers in Alberta will continue to decline in 1987, but it won't be as big a drop as it has been in the past couple years, says an Agriculture Canada specialist.

D.L. Johnson in a report in the research summary produced by the Lethbridge Research Station, says there will still be severe infestations in some parts of the province through 1987. Johnson says while the area infested is expected to be reduced in size, it is broken up, creating more problem pockets.

Southern Alberta, ranging from the Cardston/Fort

Macleod area, through to Brooks and Medicine Hat and pockets north through Drumheller, Hanna and up to Wainwright are predicted to be the worst hit, says Johnson.

Spending Canada Day in Ontario

Where will you be on Canada Day?

For 10 members of the Drayton Valley district 4-H clubs, the answer will be Picton, located on Quinte's Isle in Ontario. Better known as Ontario's garden county, surrounded by water.

The group was one of the 56 applicants out of 98 that were selected to travel on the open house summer exchange program for 1987.

Open House Canada is sponsored by a grant from the Department of the Secretary of State and is administered from the Canadian 4-H Council national office. Each participating group of 10 4-H members (plus adult escort) is twinned with a group in a province in another region of Canada.

After months of correspondence to get acquainted plus pre-trip preparation including fund raising, the two groups exchange visits during the summer months. Each member welcomes a twin member into his/her home for the length of the exchange. Groups are encouraged to design an itinerary for their twin group which balances group activities with family activities.

The purpose of the exchange is to expose 4-H members to the history, culture and geography of other parts of Canada, as well as to provide for interesting and fun social interaction. This lives up to the 4-H motto "Learn to do by doing."

For the 10 4-H members of the Drayton Valley district 4-H exchange on July 1, they will be doing what the residents of Quinte's Isle are doing -- celebrating Canada Day and the 150th year of incorporation of the town of Picton, Ont.

Discovers 'gold' mine in water

While out looking for the "lost Lemon Mine" Paul Abildgaard found his "gold" mine in water.

The company Abildgaard formed, Nanton Spring Water Co. Ltd., is located 80 kilometres southwest of Calgary in a plant of about 840 square metres size and employs about 65 people. The plant produces over four trailer loads of the Nanton products daily.

Abildgaard, 55, a native of Denmark, emigrated to Canada in 1957 and spent 25 years in the meat packing industry. One day out with the family in search of the "lost Lemon Mine" southwest of Calgary, Abildgaard found pure, great-tasting water. Abildgaard decided he could start bottling and selling the water. Acquiring some land and a used bottling machine.

Now, after a bit of a bumpy start and a few lucky breaks, Nanton Spring Water is recognized as number one in Canada with sales increasing at the rate of 300 per cent a year. Nanton produces 27 varieties of flavored carbonated water with a soda pop selection ranging from their bestseller, root beer, to clear cola, ginger ale and sweet orange with honey.

Brand new on the Nanton product list is a larger beer, Agalooosa, which will be available to the southern Alberta market by the middle of May.

Nanton is a family-oriented business, with four of the children involved with Nanton and its subsidiary companies. Susanne, 38, oversees advertising campaigns; Peter, 27, manages Nanton Water and is president of a subsidiary, Nanton Soft Drink Co.; John, 31, runs a meatball and sausage making subsidiary, Nanton Foods Ltd.; and Erik, 25, manages Nanton Water's warehouse.

Financed entirely through private loans and mortgages, Nanton has obtained ideas, advice and contacts from the Industry Development Division of Alberta Economic Development and Trade.

"Success is due mainly to word of mouth," points out Abildgaard.

Nanton ships their products as far as eastern Canada and the west coast of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii.

Nanton's products are available at retail stores and cost from 79 cents to 85 cents for a ½ litre bottle.

Make sure vehicle is capable of towing trailer

Not long ago, a car's power to tow a trailer was taken for granted, and a car could be equipped to tow a 2500 kg (600 lb) trailer.

Today, many cars do not even have a rating which specifies the vehicle's towing capacity. Special options for towing equipment are seldom available and the V-8 engine has almost disappeared from passenger cars.

The following provides general advice to consider when purchasing a trailer or when purchasing a new vehicle if you already own a trailer. AMA's Consumer Information Service offers a trailering guide pamphlet to provide you with additional information. The counsellors also collect and compile detailed articles to assist you with other trailering enquiries.

If this article triggers additional questions simply call 1-800-222-6878 toll free from anywhere in Alberta and an AMA counsellor will be pleased to handle your additional needs.

Before purchasing a trailer, make sure your vehicle is capable of the towing job that will be required.

Your vehicle owner's manual should indicate the towing capabilities. If the trailering recommendations are not included, contact a local dealer and ask for the manufacturer's trailer towing recommendations. Hauling a load heavier than specified for the vehicle can void your car's warranty in a flash.

When shopping for a new car that will be used to tow a trailer, it is important to know the weight of the loaded trailer. At the dealership, insist on reading the owner's manual for the specific model car you're planning to use for trailer towing.

The manual usually lists the maximum trailer weight limits.

Look for the unusual cautions, like turning off the air conditioner to avoid overheating when towing up a grade. You may be disappointed by what you learn about the vehicle's restrictions when towing a trailer, but it's better to discover such things before you spend your money.

Check the dealer's vehicle order form for options such as a trailer towing package, which may include a modified axle ratio, heavy-duty cooling, trailer wiring harness, transmission coolers, heavy-duty starting/charging system and oversize tires.

These are the kinds of equipment that serious trailer enthusiasts will need, and such a car can keep it running for so many years. Or if your trailer weighs more than 1000 kg (2000 lbs), considering using a van built on a truck chassis.

Be sure to check the tire reserve sticker, usually located on the right side door jamb. It lists the carrying capacity of the vehicle in kilograms of people (based on 68 kg per person) and kilograms of luggage. As some cars may have only limited luggage capacity, a trailer, full trunk and passenger load may overload the towing vehicle.

Instead of buying a new car, overhaul an older, larger car or station wagon that has the necessary towing capacity. Minimizing the non-trailer towing use of such a car can keep it running for so many

I hope to admit all the angles I tried

Jr. citizen

Nominations are wanted

Area residents once more have an opportunity to reward young people for their initiative, hard work and concern for others in their families, schools and communities.

Alberta Power and TransAlta Utilities are asking that young people who "do more than their share" be nominated as 1987 Junior Citizen of the Year.

Nominees must be between the ages of six and 18 but may be recognized as individuals or in groups. They should be youth "who show generosity, courage, enthusiasm and consistent, long-term effort."

Nominees from across the province receive a "certificate of nomination." As many as 10 young people or groups will receive the prestigious Junior Citizen awards.

The nominations are judged by weekly newspaper editors and youth group supporters.

Individual award recipients and their parents, and group representatives and their leader, will be invited to Calgary to receive the Junior Citizen of the Year citation and a cash award.

Helen Hunley, lieutenant governor of Alberta, will make the presentations at a special awards ceremony held during the annual convention of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association in September.

The name, age and address of nominees, along with the name and address of their nominators, can be dropped off at The Western Review office or mailed to Alberta Junior Citizen Awards, Letter Box 212, No. 21, 10405 Jasper Ave., Edmonton, T6J 3S2.

The deadline for entries is May 31.

OORP, Elks installation

Lt.-Gov. Hunley presents awards to deserving cadets

By Shelli Carson

Congratulations to Tina Monts, Grade 10 student at Breton high school, on being accepted to take part in a six-month Alberta/Quebec exchange for the 1987-88 school year.

Monts will be spending three months in Ville-Marie, Quebec at the home of Brigitte Larabee who will in turn spend three months at Breton and attend school here.

Noted Canadian author, Barry Broadfoot recently spent some time visiting with Bob and Gwen Samardic. While here he was also introduced to Mark and Gwen Hooks. Broadfoot is gathering material for his new book, tentatively entitled "The Prairie Years."

A joint installation of the officers of the OORP and the BPOE was held at the Breton Community Centre May 2.

Installing officers were District Deputy Ken Elliswood from Sherwood Park Lodge 461 and Deputy Supreme Honored Royal

Lady Lillian Mayhew from Drayton Valley. They were assisted by Lloyd McLeod of the Sherwood Park lodge and by Joyce Schwalbe from the Drayton Valley lodge. A supper for all participants and guests preceded the installation ceremonies.

Ruler of the Elks lodge and Honored Royal Lady of the OORP were Allen Smith and Margaret Smith - a husband and wife team is a coincidence not common in lodge elections. There is excellent prospect of good cooperation between the two lodges.

A dance to the David Ellis orchestra concluded the evening.

Thursby Bowling Lanes held their wind-up banquet Saturday, May 9. In the Monday afternoon ladies' league the high average trophy went to Mary Stevenson with a 190. High triple went to Doreen Ellis with 665; high single to Betty Bliss with 266; most improved bowler Ruby Smith with a plus 26; perfect attendance to Betty Bliss, Myrle Borman, Evelyn

Drayton News

Aldous, Muriel Hanson and Darlene Treilford. Perfect attendance for the half-year went to Wendy Hanson and Doreen Ellis.

For interested parents of three- and four-year-olds, there will be a play school meeting for the fall class on Wednesday, June 3 at 8 p.m. in the kindergarten room of the little school at Breton elementary.

The Honorable Helen Hunley, Alberta's lieutenant governor, visited Breton May 5 to inspect the Breton Army Cadet Corps, to take the Salute to the March-past that followed and to present the Duke of Edinburgh's awards to the cadets participating in the program. These awards were presented on behalf of Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

The following cadets received medals: Stephen Bollenbach, Mark Brown, William Campbell, Michael Sengavell, Diane Hart-chison, Nicholas Istvanffy, Cody Johnson, Dana O'Hearn, Shawn Rasmussen and Aron Young.

Bronze medal: Jason Hablitz, Bradley Chalkon, Wade Ekstrom, Kelsey Grunigauz, Lora Hart, E. Haydock, L. Haydock, Jason Heller, vth, Stephen Hines, Trishla O'Hearn, Chandel Pough, Robert Sood, D. Schultz, Jeffrey Solt, Trevor Wells. Major R. Lemare and Major J. Whalley assisted Her Honor with the presentations. Maj. McNab and Capt. Adams of the 80th Field Artillery Regiment, Edmonton, represented the affiliated unit. Maj. M.J. Treil, McNeill, president of the Army Cadet League, Alberta and MWO A. Bui from the area cadet office completed the inspecting party.

Capt. Don Duhany was awarded the Breton Elks Predictory trophy, while C/Sgt. W. Campbell took the Robert Samardic marksmanship award. The Commanding Officer's award went to Cdt. Bradley Chalkon. CWO Kathy Hutchinson won the Winfield Legion citizenship trophy. Daphne Oulton presented the Milton Oulton Memorial award to the highest achiever in the Canada Fitness program. C/Sgt. W. Campbell A large percentage of the corps received their Canada Fitness award. A marksmanship of the corps and successfully completed their St. John's Ambulance first aid courses.

emergency and standard, and received recognition for same.

Recreational shooting trophies were awarded to: William Campbell, distinguished marksmans (10 targets 97 or over), expert standing was awarded to Don Duhany (10 targets 97 or over), marksmans award went to Kelsey Grunigauz (10 targets 90 or over) and first class awards (10 targets of 80 or over) went to Cdt. S. Hines, D. Hutchinson, D. Schultz, S. Shannon and T. Wells.

Training demonstrations showed areas of activity in the corps. These included canoeing, biathlon, hobbycraft, radio, rappelling, bush survival and bagpipes training.

A turkey dinner, prepared by Leona Linde, completed the day. Her Honor Helen Hunley commended the cadets on their performance, alertness and self-discipline. At the conclusion of the evening, the lieutenant governor presented the Commission Scroll to second lieutenant Ann-Marie Wynn.
